This colorful book by Psychiatrist Stonewall Stickney is a funny and colorful look at lifeBy Dr. Rebecca StoneThis colorful book by Psychiatrist Stonewall Stickney is a funny and colorful look at life. The author was the head psychiatrist for the State of Alabama prior to his death. I read this book several years ago. The cute main character lands in conversations with a clear and concise ramble of truth. Have you ever witnessed someone leading you through the briar patch, but leading you to the single true outcome? This book is an humorous look at patients and doctors.

For many years, Dr. Salvo wrote a weekly column for Mobile's college paper, the Harbinger. Although his own field was Mental Health, he wrote on whatever subject took his fancy. His articles were consistently original, challenging, and compassionate (and funny!). This collection brings together some of his best pieces.
