Barbara Venezia was "the stirrer" never given much to do - but a lot of comedy relief! My ex wife and I used to watch it all the time. When the book came out we bought one at a signing at a Barnes Nobles, but my wife took it in the divorce (I know it wasn't for the recipes). Since then I've bought another copy for myself, one for my parents.. also locals who have seen the show.. and a few copies for confused friends! (I think that the shows might be on YouTube now though).0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. At Home on the RangeBy SharynA cook book about a series we used to have in the early days of Foxtel here. A reminder of the kooky couple who brought laughter to cooking.3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. A 'RAVE' for the Cookbook for the Deranged ! ! !By E. RochelleWhile visiting CA this past summer, I happened to catch the show, "At Home on the Range"... a cooking show for the Deranged. My stomach still aches from all the belly laughs. The ending credits offered the cookbook which I immediately ordered. Being far from a gourmet cook, I enjoyed the simple recipes and couldn't stop laughing from the humor supplied throughout the book. I have given it as gifts to friends and all have commented on its uniqueness. I don't think Julia Child has to worry too much yet I would recommend this book to anyone with a sense of humor....

A Comedy Cookbook? That's what you get when you whip up a blend of food and fun then add a dash of humor with a little spiceadd a half baked Chef and a vivacious "Stirrer" and you have the ingredients for one of the most unique cookbooks on the market today. At Home on the Rangethe Cookbook for the Deranged! This book is based on the comedy cooking TV show of the same name hosted by Chef John Crean and his "Stirring" partner Barbara Venezia. Recipes are down home and simple. They can be made in 21 minutes or less. From Rocking Cornish Game Hens to Home Made Dog Food this will become your favorite cookbook. They've taken the most requested recipes from their show, added some of the funniest email fan jokes they've ever read on air, and rolled it all into a hilarious mixture of culinary craziness.

From the PublisherA colorful cover houses this large, easy to read, spiral bound book with 168 pages of fun. It is suggested that you use this book with one "Chef" and one "Stirrer" in the kitchen. With such easy recipes and such funny jokes to read while your cook and stir, your family is sure to love this cookbook. No gourmets here! Just down-home cooking featuring such recipes as easy to make Spam Indonesia and Fool Proof Meat Loaf!About the AuthorJohn Crean and Barbara Venezia are the Dynamic Duo of fun when it comes to their comedy cooking TV show, At Home on the Range.
