Mary Killen : Best Behaviour: "Tatler" Book of Alternative Etiquette before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Best Behaviour: "Tatler" Book of Alternative Etiquette:

This book is based on "The Tatler" column, "Candid Counsel" and like the column it offers advice to readers "suffering from personal difficulties and problems of contemporary protocol". Advice is culled from the author's experiences at the helm of high society. Mary Killen provides observations on various areas of modern life such as house parties, dinner parties, holidays, the Opera, romance and children, and deals with topics including unpleasant personal defects, coping with excessive personal popularity, meanness, cellulite and weddings. Mary Killen writes "Candid Counsel" for "The Tatler" and contributes to other magazines.
