VARSHNEY : Medi-Humor (Medical Jokes) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Medi-Humor (Medical Jokes):

?The study of anatomy revealed that more than 100 muscles are involved when one cries and less than five when one laughs.?The medical profession is so strenuous and involving that there is very little time to laugh. However it is essential to relax and enjoy lighter moments in life to rejuvenate oneself.?This compilation of jokes is related to medical situations, events, occasions seen and observed in clinical practice.?This collection is based on many sources irrespective of finding their origins but has no malicious intention of infringement of rights, nor to hurt with any conscious motive to anyone but it intends to provide light hearted moments with laughter and joy.
