Philip Cook : Men Are From Penis! before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Men Are From Penis!:

If you've never honestly believed that men are from Mars and women are from Venus, then you must be living on a different planet. In other words, we are all alien. 'Men Are From Penis!' is one man's quest to verify what we already knew. But this isn't an insider perspective. Having discovered involuntary singledom, one martian takes a long, hard look at why communication between the sexes is a dying art and what we - or rather, YOU - are doing wrong. And throughout his quest, this celibate and oh-so-slightly insane individual will take your hand and guide you through the pitfalls of on-line dating, the very basis of which - arguably, only emphasises our inability to be at one with our opposite number. Funny, thought-provoking, challenging but never to be taken too seriously, this book will take you to Venus, Mars, Basingstoke, Hell and back! An invaluable guide for men and a damn good laugh for women, this is a must-read for all Earthlings in 2007AD.

About the Author Phil Cook is a forty-something martian who resides on Planet Earth in Cheltenham. Born and bred in Reading, Phil is married - in name only - and has 1 son, who is fast approaching the dreaded teenage years. At the time of writing, Phil is still single despite earnest efforts to extract juices from Venusians far and wide. Having spent the past 20yrs working in hotels and cinema management, Phil has taken time out to find something he really enjoys doing. Writing and not working seems to satisfy those needs. When not writing, Phil can be found doing competitions (has won over 400), horse racing, listening to music, writing poetry or following his beloved Reading FC. A novel is to follow in due course.
