Love the little details and creativity. Can't wait for an encore and some children's books for the family.... combination of art and wit at its best! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Fun read.. very funny and quite witty! By DivaSeattleHeeeelarious. I came across this book due to Reddit.. and I'm so glad I bought it. It's a very fast read.. about 10 minutes.. and I was giggling the whole way through. I passed it around the office and my colleagues got a great laugh out of it. Of course "Ron Man" seemed to be the overall favorite. Great job Austin! Kudos to you.. Next step: You should figure out how to parlay this into a fun board game... I'd definitely buy it! The book is beautifully illustrated and if you know just the slightest bit about pop-culture you'll get the movies to which are being referred. Congrats Austin! Homerun! 5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Very creative and funny. Great for the coffee table or conversation starter By BBWhitlock Very creative and funny. In Movie Title Typos, artist Austin Light removes just one letter from a well-known movie title to inspire a surprising and hilarious visual scenario. There's Obocop (a robotic police officer works through his PTSD by playing smooth jazz), T. (a boy meets a jewelry-clad alien who pities fools), Harry Otter, The Princess and the Fro, Finding Emo, Pup Fiction, and many more. A massive viral hit when he first posted sketches of the work online (1.2 million hits in the first 6 hours), Light has created new full-color illustrations for all, with the majority of the book's content never before seen on the Web. Here is a parallel universe glimpse at could-have-been films possibly betterdefinitely funnierthan the originals.

About the Author Austin Light is a writer, illustrator, and pop culture obsessive who lives and works in Charlotte, North Carolina. This is his first book.
