Sue Carabine : The Night Before Christmas in Oregon before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Night Before Christmas in Oregon:

Santa is subversiveBy Ashtar CommandNight before Christmas in Oregon is a rhymed story for children about how Santa Claus and his favorite reindeer visit the U.S. state of Oregon on the West coast. Santa reminisces about the time he gave sturdy walking boots to Lewis and Clark of the famed Lewis Clark Expedition! Apart from the rhymes, the story is filled with local references which probably only a hard boiled beaver understands.I admit that this little story wasn't my cup of Christmas cocktail. As a kid, I found rhyme extremely annoying. But then, I read non-fiction books about everything from animals to Vikings at a relatively tender age, LOL. I review Sue Carabine's e-book mostly as a protest against the silly war on Christmas currently underway in Oregon. Presumably, you can be reported if you read this aloud for the kids somewhere in Hillsboro or Eugene! When Santa becomes subversive, you know something really strange is going on! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Odd references sometimes. By Customer This is a cute little book, about 2x3" and most of the verses are all right, but there were some references to Oregon that we thought were weird. No one here understood what they were talking about. Talked about some boys named Grant Ryan, from Bend, for several pages. Maybe there is no significance. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great gift. By Fran Jackson Bought this title for my sisters for Christmas. Perfect stocking stuffer and lots of references made to places that we all know.

Santa travels all over Oregon and recalls the fun times he's had there. Then, he meets two boys who ask him for help in getting their mom the perfect Christmas gift. What could Santa suggest? BR

'Twas the night before Christmas as Santa Claus stood On Oregon's towering majestic Mt. Hood. He breathed in the fresh air, then said to his deer, "Do the folks know how lucky they are to live here?" "Remember last summer when we all sneaked away And came here to Oregon to have fun and play?"
